Description

This stand is composed of an elongated hollow base, a shaft with a heel and a wide support plate.

The steep foot rising above the plate shows beading at the base which runs continuously around it, over which runs a narrow, angular rib. At the upper end, the shape curves toward the center and merges into a narrow heel that separates the foot from the uniformly elongated shaft. The upper end likewise projects outward and is flat at the top. The central perforation has a diameter of 4 mm.
