Description

This stand is composed of an oval, arched base, a shaft with a heel and a widely extending support plate.

At the base, its foot shows a plastic bead pattern extending continuously along the circumference, above which runs a slightly angular rib. Above the rib, the shape traces a heel and then curves upward. Towards the shaft, a bead-like a heel hides the transition to the foot. The shaft runs straight and is crowned by an outward-extending support plate. The top of the plate is flat.

The central perforation measures 4 mm. (Text: S. Arnhold)
